

GHOSTS BEHAVING BADLY

6 x 60' series

Been to Relate, done Family Counselling and spent time on the Couch, but nothing works. Then it's time to call the Ghost Counsellors – a team of paranormal psychologists because it could be the ghosts behaving badly. And not you....

According to Stone Tape Theory, buildings and materials absorb energy. And every house in Britain has echoes of the thoughts and actions of the people who have lived there in its walls, and could affect the behaviour of the present occupiers. So, if a murder took place 100 years ago in the loft of a house, then its walls could still hold that energy today, and could cause the people who live there to feel depressed, stressed or enraged.

Each week, our team of Paranormal Psychologists travel to a different home somewhere in Britain and try to prove that a family, couple or individual's psychological problem is due to a paranormal presence embedded in their house. Could a couple's constant rows be caused by the vibrations of the murder of a husband's mistress captured in their bedroom in 1652? Or a family's depression be caused by the lingering memory of the suicide of a young boy in their kitchen in 1542? It's up to our paranormal psychologists to find out...

The Problem

Each programme starts with a problem that a family, couple or individual are trying to resolve, and what measures they've taken to deal with it up till now. A couple, who never used to argue, could be having blazing rows every day; or a happy singleton could be overcome with sadness; or a family who feel too depressed to eat at the dinner table.

The Team

We're then introduced to our paranormal psychologists: A House Historian, a Paranormal Investigator and a fully trained Psychotherapist and Psychic, who watch their new case on VT. We hear their initial thoughts and theories before they ascend on the house, meet the owners and begin their investigations.

The House

En route, we find out through narration and archive a brief history of the house, when it was built and what life was like in that period of history before we meet the owners in the flesh. The Paranormal Investigator and the Psychic interview the owners and re-establish their psychological problem, while the House Historian researches the history of the house at the local library to find historical evidence of paranormal activity.

The Investigations

Armed with an electromagnetic field meter and an Infra red thermometer to detect ghostly presences, the Paranormal Investigator, who is in constant contact with the House Historian on video phone, trawls through each room in the house trying to locate evidence, whilst the Psychotherapist and Psychic talks to the owners in each room to see if their emotions and thoughts can trigger off manifestations or other ghostly signs. As we move from room to room, we get a little potted history of life there through the years.

The Solution

Each week, our Historian uncovers a disturbing fact that could be the cause of the owners' problem, such as a murder, suicide or other trauma, which is then investigated, and exorcised by our psychic. Weeks later, our team returns to see whether the problem has been solved and the ghosts have stopped behaving badly.
